

Our Commitment to Privacy

StaffingScore takes great care to protect personal information. This Privacy Policy demonstrates our commitment to protecting the privacy of the information collected through the site. This policy summarizes how the personal information that is provided voluntarily when using the site and the information that is collected when one visits the site is used and secure. StaffingScore may update the Privacy Policy periodically at our sole discretion. Use of the site services by you constitutes your acceptance of the latest Privacy Policy.

What Information is Collected?

For registered users, StaffingScore requires personal information. You must be at least 18 years old to use StaffingScore. The following personal information is collected to provide registered access to the site services: Full name, Email address and City, State, Country.

Please be aware that we do not control the actions of the users accessing our services. When a user discloses personal information in a resume/profile or other medium, this information may be used by others to send unsolicited emails from parties outside StaffingScore. To report that information about you is being improperly collected or used by either a third party or any organization claiming to be associated with StaffingScore, please contact privacy@staffingscore.com. We will forward your message to the responsible party or contact them on your behalf.

How is the Information Collected Used?

We use the information collected to maintain, protect and improve services for our users. Our users may use the information provided in the StaffingScore® Reports, profiles and resumes to evaluate the qualifications of a potential candidate. Contractors/temporary personnel should be aware that StaffingScore has no way to control how the information provided to the users will be used and maintained. If you believe that the personal information provided is being used inappropriately, please notify StaffingScore at privacy@staffingscore.com.

StaffingScore reserves the right to disclose any personal information as we reasonably feel is necessary to protect our systems or business. Personal Information may also be disclosed as required by law or legal process such as to comply with a subpoena or respond to a government request. We reserve the right to report any suspected illegal activity to law enforcement for investigation/prosecution. StaffingScore reserves the right to suspend and/or terminate access to the site to a user in connection with any suspected illegal or infringement activity including users found violating our Terms of Use Agreement.

If StaffingScore is involved in an acquisition, merger or sale of all or any portion of its assets, notification will be sent via email and/or notice on our Website alerting you of any changes in ownership or uses of your personal information. StaffingScore reserves the right to assign, sell, license or transfer to a third party your personal information in connection with an assignment, sale, joint venture or other transfer of any portion or all of StaffingScore's assets.

Where is Data Stored?

Your personal information may be transferred to and maintained on computers located outside of your state, province/territory, or country. If you live outside of the United States, please be aware that your personal information will be transferred to the United States. As a result, the information may be subject to access requests from government, law enforcement officials and national security authorities in accordance with United States laws. We will use reasonable efforts to ensure that appropriate protection is provided, subject to the applicable laws. By submitting your personal information, you have consented to having your personal information transferred to, processed and stored in the United States.

Security

The security of your personal information is very important to us. We follow generally accepted industry standards to protect your personal information both during transmission and once it is received. Please direct any questions regarding our website security to security@staffingscore.com.
